General Palmer Elected.

By Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, (Ill.) March 11.—General Palmer was elected United States Senator to-day on the first ballot to succeed Charles B. Farwell.

John McAuley Palmer was born in Scott county, Kentucky, in 1817. In 1831 he emigrated to Madison county, Illinois, and during the summer of 1838, he commenced to study law. He was admitted to the bar the following year. In 1843 Palmer was elected Probate Judge, and up to the time when the war of the rebellion broke out, he held various other offices, both state and national. At the commencement of hostilities he was elected Colonel of the 14th Illinois Infantry, and during the war took part in many of its most important engagements. For gallant services under General Sherman he was made Major General. Palmer held the office of Governor of Illinois from 1869 to 1872 as a Republican, but his political course during the term was such as to alienate him from his party, and his acceptance as a Democrat, which he has been ever since.

Verifications of the roll call showed that every Republican voted for Lindley and every Democrat for Palmer; Moore and Cockrell for Palmer, and Taubeneck for Streeter. "On this 154th ballot," said Speaker Crafts, "the whole number of votes cast was 204; necessary to a choice, 103, of which John M. Palmer has received 103 votes [Democratic cheers], A. J. Streeter one vote and Cicero J. Lindley 100 votes, and I hereby declare John M. Palmer duly elected United States Senator."

Deafening applause from the Democratic side and galleries greeted this announcement. When order was restored a joint committee of seven notified Palmer of his election. The committee returned with Senator Palmer, who was greeted with great applause. Speaker Crafts introduced him and he made a short speech, in which he said:

"Gentlemen of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, you ought scarcely to expect me to speak at this time. I feel more like saying 'ain't I glad to get out of the wilderness.' I thank you 101 members for vindicating the rights of the people. By plurality vote was expressed the desire of the people to select the Senator, and my election is historical. You men who have labored so long to elect your independent candidate also deserve my thanks. [Applause.] My Republican friends, I thank you. In this contest was represented the old method of electing Senators. I thank you that the contest has been free from personalities. [Applause.]

The joint Assembly then adjourned sine die. When the vote was progressing, Representative Taubeneck, the only one of the farmers who did not go to the Democrats, said: "I vote for A. J. Streeter, nominee F. M. B. A. party," and dropping into his seat, burst into tears. It was sincere sorrow which nobody doubted, and cheer after cheer from the Republican side rewarded his loyalty to his party nominee.

Too Dry In Cuba.

By Associated Press.
HAVANA, March 11.—The drought still prevails. Its effects are most severely felt in the department of Santiago de Cuba. Small rivers are dried up and a heavy loss in cattle is sustained, owing to the fact that it is impossible for animals to get food or water. The drought will materially interfere with the sugar crop, the yield of cane being much reduced through lack of rain. The loss, too, will affect the crop, even for labor in the fields being very scarce.

Blooded Racing.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, March 11.—Lord Londale to-day drove over a course covering twenty miles in 56 minutes 55.3-5 seconds. The stakes which had been forfeited by Lord Shrewsbury's withdrawal from the match were previously handed over to the charitable institutions by Lord Londale.

Stockholders War.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 11.—There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Monon Railroad Company owing to charges against the management recently preferred by W. S. Alley, a New York stockholder, who applied for a receiver to the road. Directors were voted for under the classification to serve for four years. Alley protested against the vote under classification and demanded that a full board of thirteen directors be voted for. Considerable discussion ensued over the demand of R. J. Leonard to vote for a full board. He was finally allowed to. He voted 812 shares for thirteen directors in order to kill classification. In case the election is set aside by the Courts, he would elect his thirteen men if no votes were cast against him to forestall this result.

Boston stockholders voted 4,960 shares for thirteen directors in the interest of the management. Other votes were cast for only three directors, the inspectors of election on advice of their counsel report that these votes for thirteen directors were offered, but rejected on the ground that only three directors were to be voted for. Leonard says an injunction is likely to be applied for.

Turkey Will Exhibit.

By Cable and Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, March 11.—United States Minister Solomon Hirsch has delivered the formal invitation of the United States asking Turkey to be represented at the World's Fair, to be held in Chicago in 1893. It is believed the Porte will accept, but some time must elapse before an official reply will be given to the invitation.

The Levant Herald publishes a significant notice to the effect that by the Sultan's orders a collection is to be made of copies of all Turkish books, magazines and other literary works published since the accession to the throne of the present Sultan, Abdul Hamid. [These works are to be richly bound and will be sent to the Fair. The Porte will also send to Chicago a file of the legal paper, Djeridei Mahakim. The Turkish exhibit will also comprise several paintings, the work of students in the Imperial School of Arts depicting many of the most remarkable monuments of the city of Constantinople. In addition, the Sultan's photographers will prepare an elaborate series of views of the Imperial barracks, schools and other public buildings.]

France Considers.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, March 11.—At a meeting of the chamber of deputies, a commissioner was appointed to consider in what manner the merchants of France can be best represented at the Chicago World's Fair. After carefully examining and discussing the law authorizing the exhibition, and after studying the rules and regulations of the United States World's Fair, the commissioner paying particular attention to the customs arrangements which it was proposed to make, in order to enable the foreign exhibitors to pass their exhibits through the United States Custom House, the commissioner decided it was advisable to ask modifications of the regulations mentioned. Further details upon the whole question are to be asked for and must be received before the chamber of deputies' commissioner will ask credit from the chamber for representation of France at the Fair.

Westinghouse Balked.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 11.—Westinghouse was seen at the Windsor Hotel and asked what significance, if any, attached to his defeat at the election of the Union Switch and Signal Company in Pittsburgh. "Some time ago," said Westinghouse in reply, "N. T. Rowand of Pittsburgh, issued a circular to stockholders in the corporation asking for proxies, which were to be voted according to my instructions or wishes, by either him or myself. As I was not present at the election, Rowand it appears, cast the proxies to elect a Board of Directors of his own selection. Under the circumstances, I do not believe the election legal."

BALLOTING FOR U. S. SENATOR.

The Legislature being in joint session at 12:25 Speaker Coombs announced that nominations for United States Senator were in order. There was an effort made to shut off nominating speeches, and Matlock moved to limit the speakers to five minutes each. There was no second and the Speaker refused to entertain the motion. Coombs then took the floor to nominate Estee.

He said Estee came from no particular section of California, but represented all the people of this great commonwealth. His interests were equally divided between the citrus lands of the south, the agriculture of the north, the mines of the east, and the great commerce of the west.

Bledsoe nominated Nestor A. Young of San Diego.

Senator Fraser nominated Blanchard of El Dorado. Dibble nominated M. H. DeYoung. He said he had voted for Senator Stanford because he believed in him, but now he believed in electing a man who did not agree with Stanford in every particular. "De Young is not a railroad man," he said, "and I believe in electing him for that reason."

Galbraith nominated Charles N. Felton. He reviewed Felton's career, told of his official life in Washington, and his high character as a man. Bruner nominated William Johnston, formerly Senator from this county. He was described as a farmer of forty years' experience, and high in the councils of the National Grange.

Fowler nominated Charles A. Wetmore, the viticulturist.

Gould nominated Senator Goucher of Fresno.

The roll call of the Assembly resulted as follows:
For Estee—Ames, Barnett (of Sonoma), Bert, Bryant, Cargill, Calver, Durner, Harlow, Hawley, Lewis, Murphy, Smith (of Butte), Smith (of Orange), Stutevant, Weston, Coombs, Estee, 17.

For De Young—Alexander, Barnett (of San Francisco), Coffey, Daley, Dennis, Dibble, Dow, Glynn, Hayes, Hoey, Johnson, Jones, Lowe, Lux, Marion, Phillips, Steltz, Tennis, Tully, Arndrow, 20.

For Felton—Carter, Galbraith, Gordon, Hersey, Lacy, Young, 6.

For Chapman—Hall, Muttock, 2.

For Johnson—Bruner, Beecher, McCall, 3.

For Nestor—Young, Bledsoe, Kellogg, 8.

For Blanchard—Barnard, Baughman, Brown, Freeman, Hocking, Hunewell, Lynch, 7.

For Wetmore—Fowler.

For Goucher—Arms, Cunningham, Doty, Eackie, Garver, Gould, Jackson, Martin, Mathews, Mordecai, Murnam, Renfro, Rice, Robertson, Shanahan, Stabler, 16.

For Morrow—Wentworth 1, Clarke 2.

For Perkins—Cramer 1.

For Coleman—Dunne 1.

The Senate did not change its vote from yesterday. In the Assembly, Estee gains four votes and DeYoung two. Two of Estee's votes were cast by Bryant and Carroll, who were absent yesterday, and Darma Culver deserted Perkins and voted for Estee.

Johnston and Alexander voted for Blanchard yesterday. To-day they went to DeYoung. These were the only changes. The joint committee adjourned until to-morrow noon.

Matlock nominated General Chipman. He declared his candidate to be true and tried. President then ordered the roll called and the Senate was called first. Senator Berry was not present, consequently there were but 39 votes cast.

Among the Senators the ballot resulted as follows:

For Estee—Bailey, Byrnes, Campbell (of Solano), Campbell (of Siskiyou), Carpenter, Flait, Heacock, McComas, McGowan, Ragsdale, Shippee, Sprague—12.

For De Young—Broderick, Dargie, Maher, G. H. Williams—4.

For Felton—Banks, Crandall, De Long, Everett, Mahoney, Simpson, Streeter—7.

For Blanchard—Fraser, Preston, Voorhies—3.

For Coleman—W. H. Williams.

For Goucher—Butt, Hamill, Harp, Langford, Mead, Ostrom, Seawell, Welch, Wilson—9.

For Johnston—Denison, Dray.

Bubbles From Brazil.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Ever since the day when the new United States Brazilian treaty was proclaimed simultaneously in both countries, Brazil's Minister has been in constant telegraphic communication with his government. Cablegrams have not been lengthy but they have been emphatic. Some of these cablegrams indicated a very serious condition of affairs; how serious may be determined from the significant utterance of the Minister made yesterday. "I received to-day," continued the Minister, "an installment of Brazilian papers containing the decree promulgating the treaty, and also presenting at length the views of officials and merchants. One of these papers, the Journal de O Comercio, is filled with expressions condemnatory of the treaty. The feeling reached such a degree that all Congressmen predict that all the merchants of Rio Janeiro will go into liquidation in a few months. This, of course, is absurd, but it shows what is being asserted. The opposition comes from two of our manufacturers who, of course, are not affected by the treaty and from importers of English goods."

The Proposed Road.

The promoters of the proposed new transcontinental railroad say it is to be built probably within two years' time. Before construction could be completed a distance of 500 miles must be graded and railed. A part of that distance leads over the Sierras by a pass already surveyed and found readily accessible. The remaining distance covers more or less level ground, and has also been surveyed. The Post says the Santa Fe system will be extended to effect a junction with the new road at Pioche. That is the extent of the work to be accomplished before San Francisco will have a competing transcontinental road. The promoters of the scheme are practical railroad men. They have the support of capitalists in Scotland and Chicago. Officials of the Santa Fe system are interested. The promoters have invested considerable capital in the purchase of the California & Nevada road for the western terminal in this city. They will immediately broaden the gauge, and then institute a daily train service on the short line. That proves that they mean business. The road from San Francisco to Pioche will probably be called the California, Nevada and Santa Fe. It will no doubt be a part of the Santa Fe system. It will traverse a section which is rich in minerals, and open up to the country a large amount of hidden wealth. There will be, therefore, nothing hazardous in its construction and operation. More than the necessary amount of local business is already assured. The question of capital has been satisfactorily settled. The scheme is in the hands of practical and enterprising men. If it fails the cause will be attributed to some occurrence which seldom arises in railroad building. The presumption is fair that no such occurrence will arise. Stubborn antagonism from rivals is not anticipated. The expectation is that the Southern Pacific Company recognizes that the time has come when business will justify the operation of another road into California from the East. The promoters of the new road have also planned to build a direct line to Galveston and offer cheap freights for produce to the Spanish-American markets. This scheme, if carried out, will give San Francisco equal competition with the East in supplying the markets of Brazil and other southern republics east of the Andes, and would not confine the California southern trade more or less with the countries on the western shores of the Pacific.

THE Legislature has given the people the Board of Equalization and the Governor will no doubt sign and carry out with his signature. Now the masses want to see it enforced to the letter. The county assessor should raise the assessment thirty per cent. on all property. Let Washoe set an example, and not have it said that she tried to evade the law. Don't give the State Board of Equalization a chance to raise or lower our assessment, but have it just right. Some day we may get a Board of Equalization that will set the railroads up to a figure that will cause them to curse the day they ever gave the measure their support, but in the meantime let Washoe live up to the strict letter of the law. The raising of the assessment to eight million instead of four and a half will no doubt have a good effect, for it will show up our resources to better advantage and put us in better shape before the eyes of the world. It cuts both ways, too, for the rate will be lowered in just the same ratio that the assessment is raised, and, while we will not be called upon to pay any heavier tax than we now pay in dollars and cents, it will look better and give us a better standing abroad. While we opposed the bill we do not pretend to set up our opinion against the wisdom of the whole Legislature, and trust the law will do all its supporters claim for it. At all events, let us give it a fair trial.

IMAGINATION KILLED HER.

A Dream of Death Accurately Carried Out to the Letter.
A remarkable instance of the hold superstition has upon the mind of even the educated and religious, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, was recently exhibited in the case of Mrs. Rebecca Byrnes, of Helena, Ark., a lady noted for her intellectual attainments and pious life. One morning, arising in what seemed her usual health and spirits, she summoned her children to come to her.
One son was residing in Topeka, Kan., one in New Orleans, two daughters were married and living in Sedalia, Mo., but, obedient to their mother's call, they came at once, though ignorant of the reason of their summons. When all were about the lady informed them that she had had a dream, in which her husband, who had been dead for nearly fifteen years, had appeared to her that she had only ten days more of life. She sent for her children to bid them good-bye, which she proceeded to do with much calmness, but with the air of one who had not the slightest doubt that she was already dying.
Her friends attempted to reason with her and to point out the folly of placing such perfect confidence in a dream, but all to no purpose, for the lady persisted in asserting that she would depart from earth on such a day and exactly at a certain hour.
Her pastor remonstrated with her, and even brought the severest censure to bear on her superstitious credulity, and at last Mrs. Byrnes ceased to speak of the matter, so that her family had begun to think that she had conquered her fancy. She continued in excellent health and pursued her usual daily life, but just before the hour she had predicted would be that of her death she sought her children and bade them good-bye, then, seating herself quietly in an arm-chair, expired just as the hour was struck. The physicians declare that her death was due solely to her imagination.

AMERICANS GOOD FELLOWS.

Impressions of a French Tourist in This Country.
"Generally speaking," writes a French tourist in America, S. C. de Soissons, to the Boston Transcript, "the average American is a good fellow; he helps you with advice and gives you the benefit of his experience; he is kind and humane. The proof of this I have seen at accidents many times in the streets. If there is some trouble with a street-car, if it is derailed, all the passengers jump out and help to push the car, assist the conductor in every way possible. This is really a very remarkable fact, and it is a great credit to the American people, indicating the development of feeling."
"I have seen the same accidents in Paris, when the poor horses have fallen on the slippery pavements. Do you think that any passenger jumped out or helped the conductor to raise the horse? Not at all. The passengers remained calmly seated in the omnibus and the passers-by looked on laughingly and made jokes about that which was not funny at all."
"The humane feelings are more developed among the masses of your population. Is this due to a higher degree of civilization? I don't know. Is it due to the virtue of primitive nations? I don't know, either. I know only that it is kind, that show of feeling, and feeling, as our grand orator, Mirabeau, has said, is the best part of us."

BEAUTIES INCREASING.

One of the Alleged Effects of Athletics Among the Fair Sex in Europe.
The English people, and particularly the statement recently made by an American writer that there are very few pretty girls in Europe. This writer recently made an extensive tour in the old world, and in writing of his experiences made the daring and positive assertion that "one seldom sees a pretty girl in Europe, and, if one does, she is sure to be an American." And he further cruelly declared that the only pretty girls in England were the chambermaids at the hotels. These statements, particularly the latter one, were widely circulated, and evoked great indignation and warm denials, but withal they have caused some discussion in London as to whether beauty is really on the decline in England. The well-known painter, Ford Madox Brown, has warmly espoused the cause of the libeled fair ones, and he tells the Pall Mall Gazette that, from his experience and wide observation, he is sure "there are more pretty girls to be seen than there used to be and that young women are taller and more handsome than formerly." He attributes this to their living more active lives and taking much more exercise in the open air.

Japan's Father Damien.

There is now a Father Damien in Japan. He is a French priest, says the London Daily News, named Testevuide, who first became interested in the lepers through the case of a poor Japanese woman, whom he tended when she was abandoned by her husband and was left, blind and miserable, in a species of hut above the wheel of an old rice mill. Touched by the wretchedness of this woman, Father Testevuide hired a house near the village of Gotemba, some distance from Yokohama, at the foot of the Fujiyama mountain, and converted it into a leper hospital. Since then he has established a regular leper settlement on land between the mountains of Hakone and Fujiyama. A former resident in Japan, a graduate of Cambridge University, to whom the devoted missionary is personally known, sends us an account of the humble settlement and desires us to state for the benefit of those who are interested in work of this character that the founder of the settlement is Rev. G. Testevuide, French church, Yokohama, Japan.

The Search for the Pole.

Scientists have by no means abandoned the attempt to reach the North Pole. The prospects are fair that another year will see an expedition into Antarctic regions for purposes of exploration and discovery. It is quite probable also that our Government will, during the coming year, send out an expedition which shall penetrate into the yet unknown interior of our own Territory of Alaska.

Is Disease a Punishment for Sin?

The following advertisement, published for a prominent western patent medicine house would indicate that they regard disease as a punishment for sin:

"Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a severe cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. This can always be done if you choose to, as nature in her kindness to man gives timely warning and plainly tells in nature's way, that as a punishment for some indiscretion, you are to be afflicted with a cold. Choose to choose to ward it off by prompt action. The first symptoms of a cold, in most cases, is a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by a profuse watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in most cases will effectually counteract it, and the cold will have been a cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced." 50 cent bottles for sale by J. B. McCullough, Druggists.

Happy Mothers.

Wm Timmons, Postmaster of Idaho, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find the Electric Bitter to be the best Liver and Kidney medicine. Made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies. He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at Wm. Plummer's drug store."

Quick Work.

From the Des Moines Mail and Times. A few days ago while sitting in Elder Bros' drug store at Tingley, Iowa, Mr. T. L. Dyer, a well known citizen, came in and asked for something for a severe cold which he had. Mr. Elder took down a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said: "Here is something I can recommend. It is something of a large size and gives genuine satisfaction. It is an excellent preparation and cheap." Mr. Dyer purchased a bottle, and the next day when we saw him he said he was much better, and the day following appeared to be entirely restored. This is a specimen of the effectiveness of this preparation. For sale by J. B. McCullough, druggist.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of a consumption and that no medicine could cure her. A DENVER LETTER.

The "Irish Orator" Henry Miss Finlayson sang in the "Bohemian Club" and Goes Wild.

DENVER, March 9th, 1891.

EDITOR GAZETTE: I know it is a delicate matter for me even to assume the privilege of forwarding a letter for publication in your columns, many of which I so often, and I trust, happily filled.

Some day I believe, through the profits realized from the legitimate enterprises in which I am at present engaged, to return to those in your midst, for whom my heart beats warmly and sadly and make amends for my weakness.

It is only a few years ago since I accompanied a party of the happiest and jolliest excursionists that ever left Reno on a picnic trip down to MEADOW LAKE.

It was an enjoyable affair. Among the many present was a young lady of your lovely little city. On Saturday night last, Manager Pete McCourt of the Tabor Grand Opera House insisted upon my accepting an invitation to join a few friends and occupy a "box" to listen to the lovely music and excellent singing which are embodied in the "BOHEMIAN GIRL."

What was my surprise, you and your readers can better imagine than understand when I opened the elaborate program and read "Omen of the Gypsies"—Miss Flora Finlayson.

How quickly o'er the shadowy past my memory ran. It was the same young lady who sang sweet carols when the train stopped and let the picnic party out at Meadow Lake. How eagerly I grasped the glasses to gaze at and listen to her.

What a wonderful transformation. Then she was but apparently a novice in music and a young school girl in fact. To-day she alternates with Jessie Bartlett Davis in the principal characters of "Fatiniza," "The Bohemian Girl," etc. Particularly is this so in her impersonation of the "Omen of the Gypsies." On the occasion I referred to she did grandly. Applause is no name for the reception she received. Ovation! would be a better word. She has grown a least bit taller; more lithe and graceful. Her voice is wonderfully improved and her acting beyond criticism. Oh! what a future there is in store for this lovely young Nevada lady. And why should I not write you a few cheering words of the young lady of whom Reno should feel justly proud? She is one of your people. Her name will soon be part of your city's history and then I will be justified. I remember well predicting in the columns of the GAZETTE that Miss Flora Finlayson would achieve as Sandy Bowers' grave would figure alongside of Westminster Abbey. The latter is the depository of the remains of the great men and women of Great Britain, and the former is the property of my good and kind-hearted friend, Theodore Winters. Such is the distinction. Miss Nevada is forgotten and Miss Finlayson is a star that not long hence will throw its lustrous shimmer over the whole Pacific Coast and the mountains and over the flooded valleys of California, transmitted by lightning and sent by proxy.

THE AFRICAN LION.

He Didn't Roar Nor Wouldn't Come Out of the Cage.

An Examiner correspondent came up from San Francisco yesterday morning and went as far east as Winemucca for the purpose of meeting and interviewing Henry M. Stanley, the great African lion. But from some cause the great royal animal, who comprises a whole show and menagerie in himself, wasn't in a humor to leave his rest. He refused to come out from his cage at the request of the correspondent of the "Monarch of the Dailies." One would naturally suppose that this action would effectually prevent the long sought and long traveled for interview. But, oh! no; the ready writer was equal to the occasion. He simply seated himself at the table in his Pullman section and began writing up the interview, as though all parties were present, and when the train passed Reno he was spinning it out by the column, to send it by telegraph from Truckee. He went through "Darkest Africa" with a ship and a jump, and the interview as published this morning probably contains all the names on the African map from Lake Nyanza to Boo-roo-boo-loo-gah. During all this time the African lion was slumbering peacefully and unaware that his roar was echoing down the mountains and over the flooded valleys of California, transmitted by lightning and sent by proxy.

THE DRUMMERS.

An Army of Men Engaged in the Occupation.

Senator Quay in his speech advocating special railroad rates for drummers, said: "There are in the United States about 180,000 traveling men. Their expenses are on an average obtained from a careful compilation, about $1.50 per day. This means that every day in the year $270,000 is spent by them in railroad fares. But as they only work say eight months in the year, we will say that they are on the road 240 days, which multiplied by the sum mentioned gives us a total of $64,800,000 that is spent by them each year. This sum shows the drummer to be the largest purchaser of tickets in the country. It is estimated that the freight that is booked to fill the orders that he takes is equal to 600,000,000 tons annually in this country alone."

IN THE HIGH SIERRAS.

Miners Above the Timber Line in the Range of Perpetual Snow.

On Mt. Kearsarge, one of the high peaks of the Sierras in Inyo county, Cal., and near its summit, at an elevation of 13,000 feet above sea level, is located a gold mine that was known some years ago as the Rex Montez.

It was far above the timber line, in the region of perpetual snow, and in consequence quite expensive to work for all supplies were transported on pack mules, which included wood for domestic purposes, while water was obtained from melted snow. The boarding and lodging houses were made comfortable, for during the winter for three and four months, the miners were cut off from all communication with the town of Independence, only eight miles distant, and in plain sight from the mine. Work, however, was prosecuted nearly as well in winter as at any time, for even in the month of August the tunnels and drifts of the mine were like refrigerators, as their walls were covered with ice all the year through. The mill was at the foot of the mountain, five miles down, and was run only in the summer when the pack trail was open. Occasionally in the winter men would venture down from the mine, but the descent was so perilous, and the return so difficult and full of danger, that this was a rare thing. One day, however, a Chinese cook employed at the mine, in trying to make the descent to celebrate China New Year's in Independence, was lost and perished in the snow, and his body was not found until the summer afterwards, when a miner in descending by short cut found it frozen in a snow bank in a deep ravine. The Chinese of Independence had made efforts to find the body, and had offered a reward of $500 to any one who would produce it. The finder dug it out of the snow and carried it down some distance and hid it in the brush. Then he went into town and claimed the reward, which from some financial stress the Chinamen could not pay. He did not lose much time in negotiating, and hurried matters to a conclusion by telling them the body was hid on the sunny slope and would have made in the paper. The paper hustled around and they succeeded in raising $250, which they tendered and which the miner finally accepted and proceeded at once to deliver the goods. The bones were in due time sent to China. The miner went on a spree that ended some time after his shooting the killing the Shonens. He was duly tried and sentenced to death, but escaped that fate by being adjudged insane, and years after this writer saw him in the Stockton Asylum, and the cunning leer of recognition he gave, indicated some "method in his madness."

AN EDITOR'S PLAIN.

The Way an Arizona Man Felt It.

An Arizona Newspaper Editor who failed to get the necessary support from his subscribers to keep his paper alive published the following lugubrious editorial before permitting his paper to go to the newspaper bone yard. "The News has been dying slowly for the want of sustenance and with it died its editor who slowly wended his way to where he supposed a warmer reception awaited him than he had met amongst his patrons."

The devil saw him and said: "For many years thou hast borne the blame for the many errors which the printers have made in the paper. The paper has gone, alas for $2.00, and the $2.00 have also failed to come in. The printers have deviled thee, Saturday night, when thou hadst not a cent to thy name. Men have taken the paper without paying for it, and caused thee for not getting out a better one. Thou hast been called a deadbeat by the passenger coach conductor on this earth, he talked first rank with his cigar." Call for La Marsellaie cigar at A. Nelson's and you will find just what you have been looking for.

The Auburn Argus tells of a resident who dreamed that he found a nugget of gold in Auburn ravine, and on awakening was so impressed that he went at once to the spot indicated in his dream, and to his surprise found a piece of gold of the value of about $40.

At the town of Carroll, Iowa, the people, headed by their State Senator and the Mayor of the town, and accompanied by a band of music, assembled at the depot to pay their last sad tribute of respect to the memory of Senator Hearst, when the funeral train reached there.

Mrs. Mary Clarke, a survivor of the Donner party, died at Traveler, Tulare county, yesterday of pneumonia. Her maiden name was Mary Graves, and she was a native of Indiana. Her parents were among those who perished at Donner Lake. Three of her sisters and a brother, who were also of the party, are still living.

Herman Larson, a fireman at Seattle, died of a heart attack Saturday while holding the nozzle of the hose, when the nozzle severed to one side and a powerful stream of water struck him full in the breast and hurled him a distance of at least thirty feet, impaling him on an iron spike that projected several inches from the dock. The lower portion of his abdomen was torn and lacerated in a frightful manner. He died yesterday.

Under Difficulties.

The Yuma Sentinel set up and printed its edition of the 28th of February in the street, and modestly adds: It is not what we would have been pleased to make it, but under the circumstance it is as well as we could do, moving four times, and the disarranging of everything has made us much trouble and work and not helped the paper.

A Mystery.

How the human system ever recovers from the bad effects of the nauseous medicines often poured into it from the supple relief of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism and other ailments, is a mystery. The mischief done by bad medicines is scarcely less than that caused by disease. If they are weak, dyspeptic, constipated or rheumatic would often be guided by the experience of invalids who have thoroughly tested the various remedies, and every instance obtain the speediest and derivable from rational medicine. This medicine is a searching and at the same time a thoroughly safe remedy, derived from vegetable sources, and possessing, in consequence of its basis of pure action, properties as a medicinal stimulant not to be found in the fiery local bitters and stimulants often resorted to by the debilitated, dyspeptic and languid.

BEEF NOT FIT FOR FOOD.

The Contractors are the Ones to Send the Army After.

If another outbreak occurs among the Sioux Indians during this spring one cause of it may be found in the bad quality of food issued, as shown by the following: Colonel Shafter, until recently in command at Pine Ridge, in a personal letter of recent date says that he witnessed an issue of cattle to the Indians during February, and that the cattle averaged 785 pounds. "The cattle," says Colonel Shafter, "I do not consider fit for a human being to eat. They were on the verge of starvation and were literally skin and bones. The Government promises to give the Indian 1,136 pounds of beef, but in reality gives him the skeleton of a steer which weighs 785 pounds." In this same letter Colonel Shafter says that at Pine Ridge he found no difficulty in buying good fat steers for less money a pound than the Government pays for the bones issued to the Indians.

A FRIEND OF SILVER.

Senator-elect Kyle of South Dakota addressed the Farmers' Alliance people in Washington, D. C., on the 3d inst., and the Press says as follows:

Mr. Kyle, who is a man of about 31 years of age and a Congregational minister, told the audience of what hardships the people of his State had experienced in the last few years, and stated that the members of the Legislature who had gathered at Pierre, the capital of the State, in the recent caucus, had been so impoverished before coming there that they had to pawn their personal effects in order to sustain themselves while staying at the State capital. He pointed out that the great thing the people of his section wanted was money, and that silver money was as good as gold to them, and greenbacks as satisfactory as gold, but they lacked a medium of exchange, and for lack of it great stagnation in business has resulted. He said his people believed in free silver.

WHY DID HE GO?

A St. Louis Merchant's Trip to the Postoffice, and the Result.

California's last sensation is beginning to take hold of St. Louis. J. V. S. Barrett, the commission merchant of 122 and 124 North Commercial Street, was one of the first to test Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla in sick headaches. Its effect was such a gratifying surprise that he went over to the post office and told his friend, Thos. F. Culkin, sup' of the registry division, who was also worried with headaches. The following letter details his friend's experience also:—

Postoffice, St. Louis, Feb. 20, 1890. J. V. S. Barrett, Esq.: Dear Sir: You ask me did I act on your advice? I did, and have to thank you. For years I have suffered from indigestion and headaches. Taking your advice, I purchased a bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Before I had finished it I could eat almost anything with impunity, and have been since rarely troubled with a headache of any kind for which I give due credit to your advice and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Yours truly, THOS. F. CULKIN, Sup' Registry Division, Postoffice.

FAMILY SECRETS.

VISITOR—"I suppose your daughter is busily preparing for her wedding?" Mother—"Yes; she is up in her room now, destroying all her old letters."

WIFE—"Why, husband, I thought you had more sense than to buy a cornet. You know the fellow next door worships nearly to death with his." Husband—"Calm yourself, my dear. That is the one I bought."

"Do you like babies, Mr. White?" asked the young mother tenderly of the grim old bachelor who sat at the foot of the table. "Don't know, marm," replied the bachelor, promptly, between two mouthfuls of potato; "never tasted any."

A WIFE was complaining bitterly of her cruel husband. A friend advised her still to treat him kindly and gently, and thus heap coals of fire on his head. "Ah, that will not do," she replied, "for I have tried two kettles of boiling water on his head, and he's no better."

HUSBAND (a member of the Sportsmen's Club)—"I see they have arrested some men in the East for shooting birds on the wing." Wife—"Serves them right. They should shoot them on the head or on the feet. You men have no idea how ugly a spoiled wing looks on a hat."

LITTLE WILLIE—"Is that the papa swan on the mamma swan?" Father—"Which do you mean?" Little Willie—"Why, the poor thing that's had the feathers plucked off the top of its head; and that isn't allowed to have none of the biscuit." Father (sadly)—"That's the papa swan, Willie."

ONE of the common blunders of many manuscripts is erroneous spelling. Editors and compositors make the corrections, and save many a reputation thereby; but how is it with the private correspondence of such blunders?—Such correspondence exposes one to criticism and severe judgment, for the charity and amiability of printing-houses is seldom rivaled in the outside world.

IN AND AROUND THE BARN.

Use a little mutton tallow or vaseline when there are signs of the cow's teats cracking.

NEVER chop turnips for stock but slice them, and there will be less liability of any of the animals being choked.

Good training makes a considerable difference in the value of a horse. To get the best results handling and training should begin when the colt is very young.

If you raise the right kind of horses the buyer will come after them; if the wrong kind you will have to hunt up a buyer, and sometimes have considerable trouble to find him.

The best way to feed ground grain is to mix it with cut feed. If cut feed and ground grain are mixed the result is that the saliva is more completely mingled with the grain, and the whole is more thoroughly digested.

A CORRESPONDENT of an exchange says if your horse has lockjaw take strong tobacco and put it on each side of the jaws while they are locked, and, if a bad case, bathe all over the body, and your horse will be well and eating in a few hours.

No ANIMAL should be guarded more carefully than the cow. She daily provides milk as an article of food, and should she be attacked by disease, or suffer ailment of any kind, the whole family may incur danger. It is more important to look after the health of the cow than to the health of the horse.

THERE is no reason why the barnyard should be filthy. The farmer who aims to convert all waste into manure will have a clean barn-yard, for he can not afford to allow the liquids to be trampled or wait for the cattle to trample the absorbents that can more easily be decomposed in the manure heap.

THINGS THAT ARE TRUE.

It is for most persons more easy to flatter than to praise.

NEVER give way to repining. No habit is worse than that of useless grumbling. Action and work will mend the worst fortune.

TO BELIEVE that there is no place like home is a wholesome partiality; but to laugh another man's home to scorn because it is not a fac-simile of one's own is illiberal and unmanly.

Good manners declare that their possessor is a person of superior quality, no matter what his garb, or however slender his purse. They prove his respect for himself, and they also prove his respect for those whom he addresses.

DUTY of every kind has in it the elements of pleasure, and if we do not discover and appropriate them, it is our own fault. If we study the principles of our life-work, dwell upon its details, and strive to perfect it as much as possible, we shall insensibly learn to love it, and to feel no sacrifice for it a burden.

Too much love, or too much expression of it, never yet spoiled a child; it is undue indulgence that does that, and it is what the mother should guard against. She must have a well-defined idea of what is just to expect of her child, and work to that as the builder does to his plan, if she would develop a respectful self-respecting character.

RELATED BY MINISTERS.

AFTER the introduction—Mrs. Van Twiller (who mistakes Dr. Jovial for a physician)—"And where do you practice, doctor?" Rev. Dr. Jovial—"Ah, madam, I don't practice. I only preach."

A COLORED brother thus addressed his congregation: "De fo' part of de house will please sit down; fo' de hind part can not see de fo' part if de fo' part persists in standing befo' de hind part, de fo' part obfuscation ob de hind part by de fo' part."

A SCOTCH dominie, after telling his scholars the story of Ananias and Sapphira, asked them: "Why does not God strike everybody dead who tells a lie?" After a long silence one little fellow exclaimed: "Because, sir, there wadna be onybody left."
